Green Revolution

Manuscript 1347

Plans Being Made for New Center

Mildred Loomis

Follow this and additional works at: https://research.library.kutztown.edu/greenrevolution
Disruption of Coles' Home Schooling Stirs Our Readers

Active reader concern over the interruption of the school work of Coles' children, Bear Lake, Mich., (reported in May Green Revolution) has been reaching us just before this month's issue. O T. Plumb, Steator, III., offered to pay attorney fees and court costs for the Coles, if they contested the action of school and police officials which forced them to discontinue their first grade work at home. The three sera were progressing under Margaret Cole, their mother, with the Cashiers Home Study Course and Phono education. No issue was faced in the courts, wrote, and it is hoped the Coles would pursue it.

The American Civil Liberties Union wrote that home education was definitely a right of parents. While they had sent letters of enc­ouragement to the Coles, some Detroit parents in similar circumstances had not rec­eived actual support in court cases.

A Maryland reader said: "The May Green Revolution interested us. The whole thing is now focused on schools and education, but there is a lack of suitability for many children. While some think of what the school must face during the next few years, they explained a mixture of naus, outrage and thrust. Abigail Grafton, Bruce Freeland, Md., for anyone ex­perienced or interested in intentional communities, felt about them, when neighbors descended on the Old Mill to the Regional Schools of Living.

Mr. Kreves continues: "Suppose the state would dis­rupt their private family educa­tion. Even when each family could not afford a private school, there could be public service for effort for such families to find the freedom and build some time and a full program. A student secretary called education. A student secretary called education. A student secretary called education. A student secretary called education.

Suppose the state would dis­rupt their private family educa­tion. Even when each family could not afford a private school, there could be public service for effort for such families to find the freedom and build some time and a full program. A student secretary called education. A student secretary called education. A student secretary called education.

Intentional Community Conference

Scheduling a date for all the meetings will be shared and prorated, with a charge of service charge for use of the School of Living Center, near New York City.

Some creative work projects for the School of Living are: (1) a School of Living conference, in late June, for anyone ex­perienced or interested in intentional community. Speakers have been invited, but attendees will be charged a small fee to cover the cost of attendance and to take part in the plans the agenda and create the dia­logue that will result. This experience will find meaningful to the group.

The initiating committee consis­ted of Abigail Grafton, Bruce Freeland, Md., and Ben Zaholdi, Ben Zaholdi, editor of Intentional Community Newsletter, (Box 28, Baltimore, Md. 21203) who adds, "Our ultimate goal is a world in which all people are in­volved with their entire selves in lives that are served as ends in themselves. This is utopia. But we can begin to work at this in which one can be totally committed to action which encompasses all hu­man needs is the community. But in this effort of this sort don't exist, it is necessary to build them."

Ben Zaholdi (1134 Pine St., Philadelphia) believes that "At­tempts at Aligine and Self-realization activity seek to be part of the regional plan of the various (town and city) government, and must be started, supported and encouraged, to the extent that like the ones that have failed."

At Blue bus or Highway 83 to Maryland Line, Md. Farm phone, 301-337-5723.

By Mildred J. Lomis

Green Valley School, directed by George von Hlishein, an adaptation for high-schoolers of the English Summerhill plan, centers in the 100 acres and building of a former monastery in north central Florida, near Orange City. Luke Carpenter, teacher and friend of youngsters there, described their program at our School of Living conference in Melbourne in late January. Three of us drove to the school later, for an overnight visit. We didn't attend any classes. In fact, much of the work is done by the tutoring method, each student chewing with a teacher and working at his own pace and initiative. We noted various groups playing handball, preparing supper, setting tables, driving a stripped-down car, studying. In conversation they found them eager, friendly, intelligent. They helped us ins­pect and explore a student-con­structed garden greenhouse, which eight of them use for a dormi­ry. We visited the craft shop where students plan and carry out interesting projects. We did not find any gardening or plant­ing going on.

Public Relations

I wanted to know how the lo­cal community felt about them, and was pleased to discover that the County Superintendent of Schools had asked to enroll three young­sters. The school board trustees are committed to purchase part of the Old Mill, near Freeland, Md., for a new School of Living center. The 13-year-old, three-story stone build­ing (once wing now habitable, known as the Old Mill, and an area of that is a farm (previously reported as 30) have been of­fered to the owners, Mr. and Mrs. W B. Anacker, for $15,000.

Significant Steps to be Taken

By placing an ad in the local paper, a letter from the school committee was sent to the owners. A meeting was held. The time of our visit was there about 75 students and 17 staff, both soon to be doubled by addition of the New York Summerhill School to this cam­pus. All staff members serve without salary, and share in the ownership and operation of the enterprise. Mr. Carpenter, math teacher, works in and manages the kitchen. Prof. Skip Ruther­ford has building and grounds, etc.; students pay a tuition in pro­portion to ability and assist in the work cooking, management, cleaning and maintenance. A wealthy friend and contributor also works closely with Green Valley.

Formerly, when all students were on work crews, much time went to motivation and super­vision. One of the adults who have been here, who did not want to work became the House of Lords and those who did formed the House of Com­mons. At stated times and con­ditions one could move from one to the other group.

House of Commons

In the larger dining room, some 90 persons gathered at 9 o'clock. Luke Carpenter presid­ing. A student secretary called the roll, and Luke asked, "Any problems?"

"Larry had some beer on the grounds last night," announced Buckley. "That was obviously already known to everyone but me. A student-made rule has been violated!

What do you propose should be done about this?" (from Luke)

"Ideas quickly came, "Give him an enema with beer." "Take away his home-leave on Washington's birthday." "Give him a room next to Skip (Ruther­ford) so he can check when Lar­ry comes back next week."

May Be In this Week

In consultation with the editor of this Week, a widely syndi­cated Sunday supplement, Rose Smart, Sycamore Hollow Home­stead, is preparing an article that may appear in the supplement during July, when a Homestead Festival is under way (July 1-4) at their and adjoining home­stead. (see program in the May issue of Green Revolution.)

Entitled "Modern Homestead­ing," the article will be illus­trated by views from the new­est old way of life from the Smart Home­stead, Lane's End and other farms in the Carolinas, Tennessee and Pennsylvania.

Indications are that a most in­teresting and worthwhile three days will develop at the Homestead Festival over the July 4 weekend as the Smart Homes­ and Shugrave homesteads. From nearby and far afield people are planning to attend. If you can share in this informal home­ weekend (sampling and roughing it for the most part), please send us advance notice (and $1 per adult or $2 per family), to: Rose Smart, 4988 Twin Creek Road, West Alexandria, Ohio. You will receive a map of the local area and a full program.
Plan's Being Made, cont'd

Lloyd Gillow, director of the Children's Science Foundation, is conducting a study of the human subconscious and our relationship to our physical and mental health. He is establishing a series of workshops on the subject, which will begin in the fall.

Workshop Program

Beginning on Wednesday, Aug. 24, the Children's Science Foundation will hold a series of workshops on "The Miracle of Self-Realization." These workshops are designed to help people understand the relationship between their subconscious and their physical health. Participants will be encouraged to share their experiences and to work together to find solutions to common problems.

New Book, cont'd

The book is available at most major bookstores, and can also be ordered directly from the publisher. For more information, please contact the Children's Science Foundation at (800) 555-BOOKS.

School of Living Center News

Heathcote Road, Freeland, Md.

It has been a wet, gray spring in the area of Heathcote Hollow. Between the raindrops our efforts have centered on the School of Living Center. We've been working on planting seedlings, clearing brush, and preparing the land for new projects and renovation work.

Technical Help Available

Practitioners and students on our workshop will have available to them the facilities of the School of Living Center. We are particularly pleased to have the assistance of Stetina of Stetina's Homestead, Oakland, Calif., who will be in charge of the greenhouse and vegetable gardening.

Finance Committee

One of the crucial matters is the establishment of a finance committee to plan and implement the program. A meeting to organize this committee will be held on Saturday, Oct. 1.

Send in your suggestions, questions, and comments. We are always looking for ways to improve the School of Living Center. Let us know if you have any ideas or if you want to help.

Getting Out of the Hole

What do you do when you have a rabbit that is in a hole with a vast body of skilled people, but you can't get it out of the hole and can't get it out of the hole? Why are all these people standing by and not doing anything? What can you do? Some brain will come along and tell you what you should do. And then there will be a whole series of shelves and dig deeper and learn to do it. Finally someone will advise, "While down in that rabbit hole, let's see if we can figure out a way to dig out and get it out of the hole." But today, the man who recommends the latter must pretty well do on his own research and experimentation and do it alone. Per- haps you can be of some help, too, in the future.

Mental Aspects Of Health

A student of health and healing cannot fail to wonder about many types of therapy and approaches to health care. We have, at times, "worked the cure" and at times, the treatment. What is the best method for each type of illness? Is there one, or do we all have friends and relatives with different sicknesses and different cures? We must tell anyone who is interested about preventing sickness and about the hole of sickness and death.

Mental Aspects of Health is a book by Dorothy Samuel in May 1966. She discusses various therapeutic techniques and approaches to mental health. She also presents some of her own research findings on the relationship between the mind and body. The book is divided into two sections: Mental Aspects of Health and Physical Aspects of Health.

Mental Aspects of Health

The section on Mental Aspects of Health covers topics such as the role of the unconscious mind, the power of suggestion, and the effects of thought on health. It also includes a discussion of the relationship between the mind and body, and the ways in which the mind can influence physical health.

Physical Aspects of Health

The section on Physical Aspects of Health covers topics such as the role of diet and nutrition in health, the effects of exercise on health, and the role of the immune system in fighting off illness. It also includes a discussion of the relationship between the mind and body, and the ways in which the mind can influence physical health.

The book is available at most major bookstores, and can also be ordered directly from the publisher. For more information, please contact the Children's Science Foundation at (800) 555-BOOKS.

Natural Health Fed-

This section of the book focuses on the relationship between the mind and body, and the ways in which the mind can influence physical health. It includes a discussion of the role of the unconscious mind, the power of suggestion, and the effects of thought on health.

By Rose Smart

Did you know that our body is capable of producing as much as 12 drugs in a year, and that it has the ability to utilize as many as 72 drugs, and the book of life states that drugs can produce bad results. Even the American Medical Assn. warns against at least 72 drugs, and the book of life states that drugs can produce bad results. Even the American Medical Assn. warns against at least 72 drugs, and the book of life states that drugs can produce bad results.

Drug History

The first rabbit was believed to have been domesticated in the Mediterranean Sea. Domesticated rabbits were first seen in the early Greek and Roman writings. The Romans introduced rabbits to England and the English in- troduced rabbits to America. We know that there are at least 72 drugs, and the book of life states that drugs can produce bad results.

Rabbit History

The original home of the rabbit is believed to have been the western borders of the Mediterranean Sea. Domesticated rabbits were first seen in the early Greek and Roman writings. The Romans introduced rabbits to England and the English in- troduced rabbits to America.

Rabbit History

If you have never raised rabbits, you are not alone. You are not alone. You are not alone. You are not alone. You are not alone.

Rabbit Hutches

If you want to raise your own rabbit meat, you must have the proper hutch. The best type of hutch is the one that will keep the rabbit as happy as possible. The best way to raise rabbits is to provide them with a good diet and enough space to move around. The best way to raise rabbits is to provide them with a good diet and enough space to move around.

Rabbit Hutches

Do not come home with a rabbit that you have raised. Do not come home with a rabbit that you have raised. Do not come home with a rabbit that you have raised.

Rabbit Hutches

We'd appreciate your help in finding out if Go Ahead and Live! .. . School of Living. We think you'll find it interesting.

Young Hamiltons will carry on quietly with whatever help they can find. We're Humanists, and weary of the educational program we want. Any who would like to...