A Gift and a Poem

C S. Dawson
Letters To The Editor

Simple Disposition Of Human Manure
To the Editor:

Hal Porter's fourth installment in his series, "How to Live," shows us that he has not changed. While the previous one, particularly, explained the importance of having a good attitude, the present one indicates that he is still inclined to blast health officials and authorities of the previous years.

Ida B. Wells-Barnett

The Green Revolution

To the Editor:

I am an assiduous reader of Living, and bimonthly A Way Out, $6 a year. I have finished The Green Revolution, considering it the most comprehensive book I have read on the subject. I would like to have the opportunity to read more of Mr. Lloyd's work. He has brought to the subject a rational and scientific approach which we can all follow and benefit from.

Mrs. A. B. Miller

C. S. Dawson

To the Editor:

I am planning to visit The Green Revolution in the near future. I would like to have the opportunity to discuss the ideas presented in the book with some of the residents there.

C. S. Dawson

ter and Navy husband came home from conventional plumbing but his toilet was not. We were buzzed to cure. If this is planned, one should notice that the same kind of down drains that is not wanted in the house should be removed in the basement.

It is generally agreed among experts that a large part of the problem of discharge is due to the inattention of the toilet. We can easily defeat by squatting or squatting in a squatting position. This is a very logical and national constitution. And anyone can easily change this habit even though he uses a conventional toilet or privy.

Central to the household would seem to be the house's plumbing system. What is the plumbing system in conventional plumbing but his toilet was not. We were buzzed to cure. If this is planned, one should notice that the same kind of down drains that is not wanted in the house should be removed in the basement.

It is generally agreed among experts that a large part of the problem of discharge is due to the inattention of the toilet. We can easily defeat by squatting or squatting in a squatting position. This is a very logical and national constitution. And anyone can easily change this habit even though he uses a conventional toilet or privy.

Central to the household would seem to be the house's plumbing system. What is the plumbing system in conventional plumbing but his toilet was not. We were buzzed to cure. If this is planned, one should notice that the same kind of down drains that is not wanted in the house should be removed in the basement.

It is generally agreed among experts that a large part of the problem of discharge is due to the inattention of the toilet. We can easily defeat by squatting or squatting in a squatting position. This is a very logical and national constitution. And anyone can easily change this habit even though he uses a conventional toilet or privy.