Getting a Hearing

Herb Roseman
Simple Disposition
Of Human Manure
To the Editor:
Hal Porter’s fourth installment to his article entitled “The Green Revolution” was the most inspiring to me that I have ever read. It was to the point and I knew he had the understanding of the situation even before I read the first page. I will always have Hal Porter’s book and I will never discard it. I have read it many times and I have learned many valuable lessons from it. I feel very much the same as he does and I think that his message is very much needed in today’s world.

Getting A Hearing
To the Editor:
I am an avid reader of your Green Revolution and have very much enjoyed reading your articles. I am also very impressed with the way you present your arguments and make your points clear. Your writing style is very engaging and I always look forward to your next article.

Improvised Titles
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that School of Living is making an appearance in the latest issue of Green Revolution. King Features had an improvised comment on Mayflower II, which appeared to be a bit out of place. A Way Out, so did The Book Club. And lastly, I would like to see a Way Out and Green Revolution in the same book. I think it would be a wonderful combination of the two.

Getting A Living
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that you are progressing in your mission and that you are satisfied with your book brought to the public. I think that your work is very valuable and I hope that it is possible. — Carl Ogren, Rt. 3, Pw Pw, Minn. 4979

In Touch With Student Of Democratic Institutions
To the Editor:
I am an avid reader of your Green Revolution and have very much enjoyed reading your articles. I am also very impressed with the way you present your arguments and
make your points clear. Your writing style is very engaging
and I always look forward to your next article.

Improvised Titles
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that School of Living is making an appearance in the latest issue of Green Revolution. King Features had an improvised comment on Mayflower II, which appeared to be a bit out of place. A Way Out, so did The Book Club. And lastly, I would like to see a Way Out and Green Revolution in the same book. I think it would be a wonderful combination of the two.

Getting A Living
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that you are progressing in your mission and that you are satisfied with your book brought to the public. I think that your work is very valuable and I hope that it is
possible. — Carl Ogren, Rt. 3, Pw Pw, Minn. 4979

In Touch With Student Of Democratic Institutions
To the Editor:
I am an avid reader of your Green Revolution and have very much enjoyed reading your articles. I am also very impressed with the way you present your arguments and
make your points clear. Your writing style is very engaging
and I always look forward to your next article.

Improvised Titles
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that School of Living is making an appearance in the latest issue of Green Revolution. King Features had an improvised comment on Mayflower II, which appeared to be a bit out of place. A Way Out, so did The Book Club. And lastly, I would like to see a Way Out and Green Revolution in the same book. I think it would be a wonderful combination of the two.

Getting A Living
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that you are progressing in your mission and that you are satisfied with your book brought to the public. I think that your work is very valuable and I hope that it is
possible. — Carl Ogren, Rt. 3, Pw Pw, Minn. 4979

In Touch With Student Of Democratic Institutions
To the Editor:
I am an avid reader of your Green Revolution and have very much enjoyed reading your articles. I am also very impressed with the way you present your arguments and
make your points clear. Your writing style is very engaging
and I always look forward to your next article.

Improvised Titles
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that School of Living is making an appearance in the latest issue of Green Revolution. King Features had an improvised comment on Mayflower II, which appeared to be a bit out of place. A Way Out, so did The Book Club. And lastly, I would like to see a Way Out and Green Revolution in the same book. I think it would be a wonderful combination of the two.

Getting A Living
To the Editor:
I am glad to see that you are progressing in your mission and that you are satisfied with your book brought to the public. I think that your work is very valuable and I hope that it is
possible. — Carl Ogren, Rt. 3, Pw Pw, Minn. 4979

In Touch With Student Of Democratic Institutions
To the Editor:
I am an avid reader of your Green Revolution and have
very much enjoyed reading your articles. I am also very impressed with the way you present your arguments and
make your points clear. Your writing style is very engaging and I always look forward to your next article.