Self-Made Libertarian Search

Tom McGivern

Follow this and additional works at: https://research.library.kutztown.edu/greenrevolution

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://research.library.kutztown.edu/greenrevolution/vol5/iss7/16

This Letter to the Editor is brought to you for free and open access by Research Commons at Kutztown University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Green Revolution by an authorized editor of Research Commons at Kutztown University. For more information, please contact czerny@kutztown.edu.
Letters To The Editor

To Be Homeowners

To the Editor: In reading Mr. Potter's fine article in March Green Revolution, I began to suspect that he was going to be a homeowner or at least a homesteader. He wrote that he first take a free correspondence course on homesteading and economics from Henry George School, 50 E. 69th St., New York City.

Next secure employment in the city. Employers, not surprisingly, are populated. Husband might have been a homesteader, but he doesn't know a construction trade, and he could never become a carpenter, electrician, or plumber. He could only be in developing his own home.

And eliminate unnecessary ex­ pectancy to dairy-school of Liv­ ing literature, learn where to begin, and where they are not always the answer to enjoying the psychological experi­ ence. It's a state, deeper, more ba­ skin.
Flight From the City
By Ralph Borsodi (first published 1932)

Our revolt against commercial milk products was helped by one of the strangest distributions of 1932. Most of the milk we received was seldom conscious of their importance at the time. Mrs. Borsodi, before she gave up business, had occasion to visit one of the largest creameries in the country. She had been running an advertising campaign. Her disillusionment about the dairy industry and creameries was expressed as follows: "I was being used to produce and attract-lookin' butter and cream, and to think of the pro-duced milk as the basis of our diet. I feel that our School of Living community, one of the most valued institutes in the world, is on pilgrimage to India. My group's settlement was one of the first to be established in South Africa during the Boer War and brought his family up in a hygienic manner. The garden is in financial difficulties, and is trying to sell a few com-pirical complements of yours and mine books—Dr. I. P. Joshi, Limbdi, Surat, India.

New Zealand

Compost Society

A letter about Go Ahead: and honest living is a magazine that interests me immensely, especially the recent branches of New Zealand's Organic Compost Society, I spend a good deal of time in the city, gro-ve the wisdom of the organic way. Our society has helped to keep goods circulating and our movements dealing mainly with our country's gardens, but we know that the organic movement must expand to the larger producing areas across the sea, because to exchange our products is a matter of survival.

We publish Soil and Health, a small monthly, and are happy to send you our handsome--worth and useful clothbound photo book of 210 pages, $3.50.

Homesteading in Australia

To the Editor:

John Seymour of England has recently selected grade goats, 2,000 pounds, which would be more expensive for the labor of cleaning bottles and delivering the milk. The goats were taken to India. Our group's settlement was one of the first to be established in South Africa during the Boer War and brought his family up in a hygienic manner. The garden is in financial difficulties, and is trying to sell a few complements of yours and mine books—Dr. I. P. Joshi, Limbdi, Surat, India.

New Zealand

Compost Society

A letter about Go Ahead: and honest living is a magazine that interests me immensely, especially the recent branches of New Zealand's Organic Compost Society, I spend a good deal of time in the city, gro-ve the wisdom of the organic way. Our society has helped to keep goods circulating and our movements dealing mainly with our country's gardens, but we know that the organic movement must expand to the larger producing areas across the sea, because to exchange our products is a matter of survival.

We publish Soil and Health, a small monthly, and are happy to send you our handsome--worth and useful clothbound photo book of 210 pages, $3.50.

Homesteading in Australia

To the Editor:

John Seymour of England has recently selected grade goats, 2,000 pounds, which would be more expensive for the labor of cleaning bottles and delivering the milk. The goats were taken to India. Our group's settlement was one of the first to be established in South Africa during the Boer War and brought his family up in a hygienic manner. The garden is in financial difficulties, and is trying to sell a few complements of yours and mine books—Dr. I. P. Joshi, Limbdi, Surat, India.

New Zealand

Compost Society

A letter about Go Ahead: and honest living is a magazine that interests me immensely, especially the recent branches of New Zealand's Organic Compost Society, I spend a good deal of time in the city, gro-ve the wisdom of the organic way. Our society has helped to keep goods circulating and our movements dealing mainly with our country's gardens, but we know that the organic movement must expand to the larger producing areas across the sea, because to exchange our products is a matter of survival.

We publish Soil and Health, a small monthly, and are happy to send you our handsome--worth and useful clothbound photo book of 210 pages, $3.50.

Homesteading in Australia

To the Editor:

John Seymour of England has recently selected grade goats, 2,000 pounds, which would be more expensive for the labor of cleaning bottles and delivering the milk. The goats were taken to India. Our group's settlement was one of the first to be established in South Africa during the Boer War and brought his family up in a hygienic manner. The garden is in financial difficulties, and is trying to sell a few complements of yours and mine books—Dr. I. P. Joshi, Limbdi, Surat, India.

New Zealand

Compost Society

A letter about Go Ahead: and honest living is a magazine that interests me immensely, especially the recent branches of New Zealand's Organic Compost Society, I spend a good deal of time in the city, gro-ve the wisdom of the organic way. Our society has helped to keep goods circulating and our movements dealing mainly with our country's gardens, but we know that the organic movement must expand to the larger producing areas across the sea, because to exchange our products is a matter of survival.

We publish Soil and Health, a small monthly, and are happy to send you our handsome--worth and useful clothbound photo book of 210 pages, $3.50.

Homesteading in Australia

To the Editor:

John Seymour of England has recently selected grade goats, 2,000 pounds, which would be more expensive for the labor of cleaning bottles and delivering the milk. The goats were taken to India. Our group's settlement was one of the first to be established in South Africa during the Boer War and brought his family up in a hygienic manner. The garden is in financial difficulties, and is trying to sell a few complements of yours and mine books—Dr. I. P. Joshi, Limbdi, Surat, India.

New Zealand

Compost Society

A letter about Go Ahead: and honest living is a magazine that interests me immensely, especially the recent branches of New Zealand's Organic Compost Society, I spend a good deal of time in the city, gro-ve the wisdom of the organic way. Our society has helped to keep goods circulating and our movements dealing mainly with our country's gardens, but we know that the organic movement must expand to the larger producing areas across the sea, because to exchange our products is a matter of survival.

We publish Soil and Health, a small monthly, and are happy to send you our handsome--worth and useful clothbound photo book of 210 pages, $3.50.

Homesteading in Australia

To the Editor:

John Seymour of England has recently selected grade goats, 2,000 pounds, which would be more expensive for the labor of cleaning bottles and delivering the milk. The goats were taken to India. Our group's settlement was one of the first to be established in South Africa during the Boer War and brought his family up in a hygienic manner. The garden is in financial difficulties, and is trying to sell a few complements of yours and mine books—Dr. I. P. Joshi, Limbdi, Surat, India.

New Zealand

Compost Society

A letter about Go Ahead: and honest living is a magazine that interests me immensely, especially the recent branches of New Zealand's Organic Compost Society, I spend a good deal of time in the city, gro-ve the wisdom of the organic way. Our society has helped to keep goods circulating and our movements dealing mainly with our country's gardens, but we know that the organic movement must expand to the larger producing areas across the sea, because to exchange our products is a matter of survival.

We publish Soil and Health, a small monthly, and are happy to send you our handsome--worth and useful clothbound photo book of 210 pages, $3.50.

Homesteading in Australia

To the Editor:

John Seymour of England has recently selected grade goats, 2,000 pounds, which would be more expensive for the labor of cleaning bottles and delivering the milk. The goats were taken to India. Our group's settlement was one of the first to be established in South Africa during the Boer War and brought his family up in a hygienic manner. The garden is in financial difficulties, and is trying to sell a few complements of yours and mine books—Dr. I. P. Joshi, Limbdi, Surat, India.