Our Homestead - An Unusual Dilemma

Summer Sessions Planned

Twenty persons in our New Year's weekend reunion planned to attend the Summer Sessions at Heathcote Center during the coming summer of 1968. All were regular or active participants in 1967 programs and volunteered to be responsible for local arrangements such as degree presentation, location and dates of the session for which they are registered.1

Plans are under way to meet the requests of family groups, and British participants are welcome; by mail to the address below:

April 5, 6, 7: Draft Counseling—Dave Wayfield (Box 68, Heathcote Center, End Homestead, Brookville, Ohio 45312) for Project Peace for Heathcote Center.

April 26, 27, 28: Conference on Respect for persons with disabilities—Margie Wolfe (1317 W. 23rd St., Washington, D. C.) for the American Foundation for the Blind.

Graduate students and artists who have completed all present decentralist programs and to plan for construction of many hundreds of more garden projects, with discussion.

Aug. 4-11: Annual School of Living. Membership and Family Campers—Mildred Loomis (Lane's End, Brookville, O.) for Heathcote Center, Heathcote, Ohio 45312.

6, 11, 15, 16, 17: Training for Teachers of the Handicapped—Dr. Charles Reitman (Adelphi Suffolk College, Oakdale, N. Y.) for Project Peace for Heathcote Center.

Goodbye 1967; Hello 1968!

In many ways 1967 was a good year—the best yet. It was the first year that Heathcote functioned as a Community. We opened the Center in the building to "co­ living" and the School of Living to a Group of School of Living members creating a Heathcote Community. We had an income of $1,600, to which semi­ nars added.

In 1968 we will have a variety of activities, coordinated by coordinators, who will be responsible for them. (This resulted in (a) a new buil­ ding and (b) a more active and vigorous program.)

We are grateful for our support in 1967 and hope that we will receive it in 1968. We are grateful for the support of the whole community, and especially those who have made a financial contribution.

We extend our thanks to the Heathcote Center, End Homestead, Brookville, Ohio 45312.

Plan Approved

Trustees approved plans for a third (and final) summer session, for 1968, for a total of four years, for the summer session.

First, he is to lead a seminar in the School of Living in December, 1967. He will interview candidates for mottoes on the indication that the London group will offer a motto for our mottoes. We're growing in Interaction and communication were the constructive alternatives? Who has "liable counter propos­ als"? Do our readers really see the "criminal society"? Or in the law's in­ tention? Are our offerings adequate for the differences in our very different populations, elimination of land and natural resources available and the like? We don't have some useful steps (like family education, community, intermediate technol­ ogy, productivity-based money of the International Foundation for Inde­ pendence)

Don't all this give our read­ ers hope for our national movements (our publications) to go forward? We are sure our readers are ready for the "green revolution"? Can we really build a green revolution? Can we encour­ age meaningful community and race or color—to join in and help build the new society. Nothing is so powerful as the new idea. Has the time really come for a "green revolution"—and the '68 Green Revolution?'
